

BA in International and Political Studies Specialization: Intercultural Communication

International and Political Studies, specialization: Intercultural Communication	Institution	Faculty of International and Political Studies, University of Lodz
Duration 6 semesters (3 academic years) Language of instruction ECTS points 181 Intercultural Communication links the knowledge and skills based in cultural sciences, social, economic, historical and international relations. The program of specialty allows to obtain interdisciplinary humanistic education and prepare the student for second degree studies. Studies broaden the perception of the multiculturalism of the modern world and the multidimensionality of socio-cultural phenomena and processes, as well as explain the principles of functioning of national and international institutions dealing with broadly understood cultural issues. The specialty allows to broaden perception of cultural dimensions in the contemporary world, including issues related to research on identities (from local to global, from ethnic to national and transnational), multiculturalism, intercultural relations (including studies on diasporas, migration processes and the situation of indigenous peoples)), cultural programming and gender studies. During the course students are given knowledge and skills in the field of culture in the international aspect, including knowledge about world literature, art, theater, film and knowledge in the field of social communication, media and marketing basics. Tuition 2 700 Euro Deadline for application 15 July 2022 Please note that there is an ongoing change of regulations at the University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school diploma, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:	Name of the	International and Political Studies, specialization: Intercultural
Duration 6 semesters (3 academic years) English ECTS points 181 Intercultural Communication links the knowledge and skills based in cultural sciences, social, economic, historical and international relations. The program of specialty allows to obtain interdisciplinary humanistic education and prepare the student for second degree studies. Studies broaden the perception of the multiculturalism of the modern world and the multidimensionality of socio-cultural phenomena and processes, as well as explain the principles of functioning of national and international institutions dealing with broadly understood cultural issues. The specialty allows to broaden perception of cultural dimensions in the contemporary world, including issues related to research on identities (from local to global, from ethnic to national and transnational), multiculturalism, intercultural relations (including studies on diasporas, migration processes and the situation of indigenous peoples)), cultural programming and gender studies. During the course students are given knowledge and skills in the field of culture in the international aspect, including knowledge about world literature, art, theater, film and knowledge in the field of social communication, media and marketing basics. Tuition 2 700 Euro Deadline for application 15 July 2022 Please note that there is an ongoing change of regulations at the University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school diploma, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:	programme	Communication
English	_	BA in International and Political Studies
Instruction ECTS points 181 Intercultural Communication links the knowledge and skills based in cultural sciences, social, economic, historical and international relations. The program of specialty allows to obtain interdisciplinary humanistic education and prepare the student for second degree studies. Studies broaden the perception of the multiculturalism of the modern world and the multidimensionality of socio-cultural phenomena and processes, as well as explain the principles of functioning of national and international institutions dealing with broadly understood cultural issues. The specialty allows to broaden perception of cultural dimensions in the contemporary world, including issues related to research on identities (from local to global, from ethnic to national and transnational), multiculturalism, intercultural relations (including studies on diasporas, migration processes and the situation of indigenous peoples)), cultural programming and gender studies. During the course students are given knowledge and skills in the field of culture in the international aspect, including knowledge about world literature, art, theater, film and knowledge in the field of social communication, media and marketing basics. 2 700 Euro Peadline for application Please note that there is an ongoing change of regulations at the University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school diploma, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:	Duration	6 semesters (3 academic years)
Intercultural Communication links the knowledge and skills based in cultural sciences, social, economic, historical and international relations. The program of specialty allows to obtain interdisciplinary humanistic education and prepare the student for second degree studies. Studies broaden the perception of the multiculturalism of the modern world and the multidimensionality of socio-cultural phenomena and processes, as well as explain the principles of functioning of national and international institutions dealing with broadly understood cultural issues. The specialty allows to broaden perception of cultural dimensions in the contemporary world, including issues related to research on identities (from local to global, from ethnic to national and transnational), multiculturalism, intercultural relations (including studies on diasporas, migration processes and the situation of indigenous peoples)), cultural programming and gender studies. During the course students are given knowledge and skills in the field of culture in the international aspect, including knowledge about world literature, art, theater, film and knowledge in the field of social communication, media and marketing basics. Tuition 2 700 Euro 2 700 Euro 15 July 2022 Please note that there is an ongoing change of regulations at the University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school diploma, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:		English cultural sciences, social, economic, historical and international relations. The program of specialty allows to obtain interdisciplinary humanistic education and prepare the student for second degree studies. Studies broaden the perception of the multiculturalism of the modern world and the multidimensionality of socio-cultural phenomena and processes, as well as explain the principles of functioning of national and international institutions dealing with broadly understood cultural issues. The specialty allows to broaden perception of cultural dimensions in the contemporary world, including issues related to research on identities (from local to global, from ethnic to national and transnational), multiculturalism, intercultural relations (including studies on diasporas, migration processes and the situation of indigenous peoples)), cultural programming and gender studies. During the course students are given knowledge and skills in the field of culture in the international aspect, including knowledge about world literature, art, theater, film and knowledge in the field of social communication, media and marketing basics. Tuition 2 700 Euro 2 15 July 2022 Please note that there is an ongoing change of regulations at the University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school diploma, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:	ECTS points	181
Deadline for application 15 July 2022 Please note that there is an ongoing change of regulations at the University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school transcript of records showing passed subjects and obtained grades, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:	Programme description	cultural sciences, social, economic, historical and international relations. The program of specialty allows to obtain interdisciplinary humanistic education and prepare the student for second degree studies. Studies broaden the perception of the multiculturalism of the modern world and the multidimensionality of socio-cultural phenomena and processes, as well as explain the principles of functioning of national and international institutions dealing with broadly understood cultural issues. The specialty allows to broaden perception of cultural dimensions in the contemporary world, including issues related to research on identities (from local to global, from ethnic to national and transnational), multiculturalism, intercultural relations (including studies on diasporas, migration processes and the situation of indigenous peoples)), cultural programming and gender studies. During the course students are given knowledge and skills in the field of culture in the international aspect, including knowledge about world literature, art, theater, film and knowledge in the field of social
Please note that there is an ongoing change of regulations at the University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school transcript of records showing passed subjects and obtained grades, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:	Tuition	2 700 Euro
University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school transcript of records showing passed subjects and obtained grades, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:		15 July 2022
www.i5o.uiiiiouz.pi	Requirements	University of Lodz (due to the reform of state Law on Higher Education and Science) and there may be some amendments to admission rules in 2022. The following documents are required (among others): (1) a high school diploma, (2) a high school transcript of records showing passed subjects and obtained grades, (3) a certificate of proficiency in English for foreigners (unless secondary education was taught in English). For detailed information about the admission procedure please visit:
Contact For questions about the studies please contact:	Contact

Faculty of International and Political Studies

ul. Składowa 43, 90-127 Łódź, Poland

tel.: +48 42 63 54 265 fax: +48 42 66 55 687 e-mail: interul@uni.lodz.pl

In matters related to the admission procedure please contact:

International Relations Office, University of Lodz

3 Uniwersytecka Str., 90-137 Lodz, Poland

Phone: +48 42 635 42 37 e-mail: admission@uni.lodz.pl

www http://www.wsmip.uni.lodz.pl/wydzial?locale=en

International Relations Office of the University of Lodz

Address: ul. Uniwersytecka 3, 90-137 Lodz, Poland

Phone: +48 42 635 42 37 E-mail: admission@uni.lodz.pl

www.iso.uni.lodz.pl